From the latest court decisions to the most recent legislative mandates, the past year in labor and employment law has been filled with headline news and breaking stories. Join us for our annual Employment Law Workshop with Constangy, Brooks & Smith, LLP for all of the latest information and much needed practical advice.

General Sessions (All Participants): Recent Developments in Employment Law

The lead story in labor and employment law this past year has been the many new challenges facing employers. This popular session will review the most important new developments in labor and employment, and provide practical advice for employers in managing their relationships with employees. It also will look at the labor and employment stories that likely will be making headlines in the years to come.

HR War Stories: Practical Advice

Come prepared to share your HR war stories and questions with our panel of employment law experts, who can give you practical advice to stay out of the headlines. This interactive and informal session will help employers identify ways to avoid common mistakes and the lawsuits that follow, so that you do not become the top story on the evening news.
